Sperry Marine Spares Policy to Certification Labels

Sperry Marine's policy with regards to supply of spares for equipment subject to type approval under the European Union Marine Equipment Directive and/or the United Kingdom Conformity Assessment legislation is, wherever possible, to supply spares that are manufactured under the same Module D Production Quality Assurance processes that apply to new equipment. These spares carry the same marking as new equipment (i.e. EU wheel mark and/or UKCA conformity mark for marine equipment).

In cases where the associated type approval certification no longer applies, such as when the equipment has reached end of life or is out of production for other reasons, spares are manufactured using equivalent Production Quality Assurance processes but the associated marking is not applied. In such cases the spares are identical in build standard, performance and part numbering to those that carried the original certification.
